ELECTRONIC BOOKS AT THE GRADUATE CENTER

WHAT ELECTRONIC BOOKS ARE AVAILABLE?: The Mina Rees Library has rights to thousands of books in all disciplines in several collections. Go to the library's Databases page for descriptions of ACLS Humanities E-Book Project, Black Thought and Culture, Digital Dissertations, Early English Books Online (EBBO), Ebook Library (EBL), Eighteenth Century Collection Online (ECCO), Gale Virtual Reference Library, Grolier Reference Online, Handbooks in Economics Series, Literature Resources from Gale, Making of the Modern World, NetLibrary, Oxford Language Dictionaries Online, Oxford Reference Online, ProQuest Reference, PsycBooks, Twayne's Author Series, and Women and Social Movements in the United States, 1600-2000.

ACCESSING ELECTRONIC BOOKS: In addition to accessing electronic books directly from the collections above, many, but not all, available titles may be found in the CUNY+ catalog of the holdings of all CUNY libraries. Only when Graduate Center appears as a location beside Electronic Resource in the catalog is the title available to Graduate Center students, faculty, and staff. The Graduate School of Journalism is not the Graduate Center. If rights to an electronic book are held by CUNY libraries other than the Graduate Center, you must view these books at the libraries owning rights to them or make an interlibrary-loan request (gc.cuny.illiad.oclc.org/illiad/logon.html) for a print copy. Electronic books may not be borrowed through interlibrary-loan or CLICS (library.gc.cuny.edu/info/clics.html).

All available electronic resources may be accessed using your Graduate Center computer network login. Complete remote access details are explained at library.gc.cuny.edu/databases/remote.html.

If you are unable to access an electronic book through CUNY+, add the Graduate Center's proxy server prefix to the book's URL: <http://ezproxy.gc.cuny.edu/login?url=>

If you are unable to access a NetLibrary title, go to the NetLibrary site while at the Graduate Center to create a user account.

VIEWING, SAVING, AND PRINTING: Most vendors of electronic books allow viewing, saving, or printing only a page at a time.
